

Religious Education

RE at First Tower links closely to the three key school values that underpin all teaching and learning at our school: respect, learn and persevere. Through teaching of RE, teachers inspire pupils to discover things about people from other cultures and religions different to their own. This in turn will lead to pupils respecting people's similarities and differences.

RE lessons at First Tower:

- adopt an enquiry- based approach beginning with the children's own life
- provoke challenging questions about the meaning and purpose of life, beliefs, the self, and issues of right and wrong, commitment and belonging.
- develop pupils' knowledge and understanding of religions and religious traditions fostering personal reflection and spiritual development.
- encourage pupils to explore their own beliefs (religious or non-religious. )
- enable pupils to build their sense of identity and belonging
- develop a sense of awe, wonder and mystery.
